

DR GRANT FOSTER

Associate Director - Enterprise Risk Management, Aon Limited

Grant has over eight years experience in risk management consultancy and management system development and has a track record of working with many different industries, including energy, petrochemical, transportation, manufacturing, mining and the public sector. Recent experience relating to pandemics includes a lessons learned review of the roles and responsibilities of government departments in response to the February 2007 Avian Flu outbreak at the Bernard Matthews farm in Holton. This work was carried out on behalf of Defra, the FSA and the MHS. Grant is currently involved in the roll out of a global pandemic preparedness programme for Gate Gourmet (the airline caterers).

Grant is a chartered engineer, holds a PhD in the field of distributed systems modelling and a BSc (First Class) in Cybernetics and Mathematics from the University of Reading.
