LLOYD'S

The background of the cover features a close-up, low-angle shot of a tall, industrial metal tower. The tower is composed of several cylindrical sections connected by flanges, with a metallic, slightly weathered appearance. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows, set against a clear, light blue sky.

Environmental and Energy Policy

The Corporation of Lloyd's (Lloyd's) recognises and accepts its responsibility to protect the environment and prevent pollution arising from our activities, products and services in accordance with all applicable environmental legislation and other requirements to which we subscribe.

Lloyd's approach to Environmental management is based on the key clauses of BS EN ISO14001:2004 whereby emphasis is placed on:

- 4.2 Environmental Policy
- 4.3 Planning
- 4.4 Implementation and Operation
- 4.5 Checking
- 4.6 Management Review

Lloyd's approach to Energy management is based on the key clauses of BS EN ISO50001:2011 whereby emphasis is placed on:

- 4.2 Management Responsibility
- 4.3 Energy Policy
- 4.4 Energy Planning
- 4.5 Implementation and Operation
- 4.6 Checking
- 4.7 Management Review

Lloyd's recognises the need to focus on continual improvement of our environmental and energy management and performance. Our aim is to encourage a positive culture which promotes sustainable business practices. To ensure this is achieved care for the environment and improved energy performance is actively promoted throughout the organisation through the provision of information, training, instruction and supervision.

Lloyd's operates a 'low blame' culture whereby employees are openly encouraged to report potential environmental and energy performance concerns without fear of reprisal to ensure the root causes of environmental and energy incidents are identified thus enabling measures to be put in place to eliminate their occurrence.

Emphasis is placed on effective management ensuring a systematic approach to the identification of environmental aspects and impacts and energy usage and the allocation of financial and physical resources to control them. In order to deliver these responsibilities Lloyd's undertakes to:

- Maintain a proactive approach to manage our significant aspects including setting targets for improved waste and energy management within Lloyds;
- Ensure that aspects and impacts assessments are being carried out on an on-going basis with employees participating in the process as appropriate.
- Provide sufficient information, instruction, training and supervision to enable employees to prevent the occurrence of pollution incidents and achieve continual improvement in environmental performance;
- Provide our stakeholders (e.g. Contractors, Market Participants, Tenants and Visitors) with information instruction, training and supervision as appropriate to prevent the occurrence of pollution incidents;

- Undertake through the Environmental Working Group (EWG) to consult with employees and stakeholders on issues relating to the environment and energy usage and ensure access to competent advice;
- Ensure safe arrangements for the use, handling, storage and transport and disposal of articles and substances;
- Ensure compliance with all relevant Environmental legislation and other requirements associated with our UK and overseas operations;
- Arrange for the effective planning, organisation, control, monitoring and review of preventive and corrective measures; and
- Commit to reporting on environmental and energy performance through the EWG.

The Chief Executive Officer (CEO) takes overall responsibility for the environment and energy usage including the formulation, development and implementation of the Environmental and Energy policy within Lloyd's and requires the co-operation and support of all managers, employees, tenants, contractors and visitors in its implementation. The CEO will ensure that the Policy is reviewed periodically, at least every two years, to ensure that it remains relevant and appropriate to the organisation.

This Policy will be communicated to all persons working under the control of the organisation and will be made available to the public and other interested parties on request.
